We sincerely hope that the selected topics will arouse your interest and that, despite the restrictions currently imposed by the COVID-19 pandemic, you will nevertheless register for the Symposium as a participant. This bi-annual forum is the meeting point for the latest innovations in the wood-based panel industry. It was most recently attended by 345 delegates from 34 countries, emphasising its global reach and appeal.

Until 4th August 2020, you will be able to register for the event at the early bird price via the conference homepage www.european-wood-based-panel-symposium.org. Should you or your company be a member of the International Association for Technical Issues related to Wood (iVTH) or the European Panel Federation (EPF), please contact the respective administrative offices for a voucher code enabling a reduced participation fee.

If the symposium has to be postponed to a later date - which we hope will not happen - your registration will, of course, retain its validity. Alternatively, you may request a refund of the amount already paid.

Our hope is naturally that we all remain healthy and that we will be able to have the pleasure of welcoming you to Hamburg at the end of September 2020.
